Packaging Waste Regulation (PPWR)

Thank you for your inquiry regarding the Packaging and Packaging Waste Regulation (PPWR).

As the implementation of the PPWR requirements progresses, both the relevant compliance documentation and various industry-wide processes are continuously evolving.

We are already able to provide selected packaging-related information, including details on packaging materials and packaging weights, to the extent that this information is available.

Please note that some regulatory requirements, as well as the associated verification and assessment processes, are currently still being further defined and implemented. For this reason, complete or final PPWR-related compliance documentation or declarations are not yet available for all products.

Regardless, we are continuously working to provide the necessary data and evidence and to implement the regulatory requirements to the best of our ability.

We would be happy to share the currently available packaging information with you and support you in your compliance efforts.

If you require further information, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

KERN & Sohn GmbH
